Marginal Column By GEORGE LEONOF

THIS narrow ballot-box victory achieved by the incumbent Prime Minister's National Union in the general election in Greece on Monday leaves the Greek political scene, for the time being, as a state of affairs in which the Greek right-wing coalition, successor to the late Marshal Papagos, and the Greek left-wing coalition, successor to the late Marshal Papagos, are in a state of stalemate. The margin is slim enough, especially as the Democratic Union, a centre and left-wing parties knocked together by sheer expediency, has returned 142 reform-bourgeois representatives, and could, but probably won't, constitute a dynamic opposition, even if their demand for fresh elections — on the grounds that the army vote was by order than by choice — is disallowed.

DESCRIPTION of the results as a startling left-wing victory is as a result of the fact that the Greek left, in the light of recent Greek history, is in itself a small achievement. It is the voice of an integrated opposition. The right wing had based its campaign on the unproven assumption that the Greek left was a "mass" vote for Communism, and Mr. Georges Papandreu, leader of the centre-left coalition, had made haste to tell the voters that the Greek left was a "mass" vote for Communism, and Mr. Georges Papandreu, leader of the centre-left coalition, had made haste to tell the voters that the Greek left was a "mass" vote for Communism.

A BOWEN estimation, perhaps, is that the Greek left has won more than a legal voice — though in the light of recent Greek history this in itself is no small achievement. It is the voice of an integrated opposition. The right wing had based its campaign on the unproven assumption that the Greek left was a "mass" vote for Communism, and Mr. Georges Papandreu, leader of the centre-left coalition, had made haste to tell the voters that the Greek left was a "mass" vote for Communism.

Prime Minister Karamanlis is in a firm position. Although the Government has done little to relieve the misery which remains the lot of a large portion of the population — despite hundreds of thousands of dollars in U.S. aid — he stayed on the right side of nationalism at a time when Greek resentment abandoned the belly for higher regional and national issues. He has been successful in the minds of most Greeks, taking precedence over the still rankling grievances about Turkey for the wild anti-Greek riots in London and Istanbul, and his Government has abstained from participation alongside the British and the United States in NATO exercises, at the same time also remaining aloof from other forms of cooperation with Turkey.

As long as Greece and Turkey continue to fan Greek emotions — and the Turkish minority on Cyprus is likely to keep the two issues firmly linked — the Government's majority in Parliament should remain effective as its support of the Cypriot cause. In support of the Cypriot cause, however, Mr. Karamanlis may have lost an increasingly annoying thorn in his side.

Brazil Rebels Gain; Peru Revolt Weakens

BRASILIAN Air Force rebels yesterday reportedly made further gains with the seizure of two more aircraft along the Amazon River, bringing the total under their control to seven. Further, 1,500 men are being sent to the Amazon but in Peru, Government troops barred the way to Iquitos, stronghold of the Peruvian rebels, with the seizure of Requena.

194 Sudan Farm Workers Reported Dead after Arrest

CAIRO, Wednesday (Reuters). — A total of 194 Sudanese farm workers who were among 528 arrested after a violent clash Sunday with police at Kosti, in the Blue Nile Province, died today in the army barracks where they were detained, the Arab News Agency reported from Khartoum.

Deaths in Europe's Cold Now 808

The death toll in 17 European countries in the grip of the three-week freeze rose to 808 yesterday, as more heavy snowfalls were reported and temperatures continued below freezing point. France was the hardest hit with 128 deaths, and Italy followed with 150.

TOURISTS HEAR THE ANSWERS

The first in a series of question and answer forums for tourists, sponsored by the Government Tourist Corporation, was held at the Touring Club in Jerusalem on Tuesday night. The panel of experts consisted of Mayor Gershon Agron, Prof. Abba Lerner, Mr. Yehoshua Kolk, Director of the Corporation; Mr. G. Rafael of the Foreign Ministry, and Mrs. E. Goldstein, Mr. Ted Lurie and Mrs. Lurie. The panel of experts consisted of Mayor Gershon Agron, Prof. Abba Lerner, Mr. Yehoshua Kolk, Director of the Corporation; Mr. G. Goldstein, Mr. Ted Lurie and Mrs. Lurie.

The next forum of this kind will probably take place early next month with an English group and will be followed shortly after by one comprising French tourists.

Another scheme of the Corporation, "home hospitality," is aimed at bringing the lonely or unacquainted tourist into intimate contact with a local family. Cards from the Jerusalem Residents Committee are to be found in every hotel room. The visitor need only fill out the attached questionnaire and send it to the Tourist Office to receive an invitation to tea or to spend the evening with a family.

The resident volunteer hosts, in their turn, are all on file, classified on the basis of the questionnaire that they filled in.

Tel Aviv Warms up to Purim

JERUSALEM Post Staff
TEL AVIV, Wednesday. — Cap shooting, rattles, and the voracious advertising of peddlers, made the main streets ring with holiday life this evening. The shops joined in the Purim look and, after a slow start, were more crowded than usual. Many men's shops displayed evening clothes sprinkled with confetti.

A record number of parties is taking the place of last year's Adloyada. The first of more than 13 to take place at E.O.A. House will be the Wine hall tomorrow night. Also to be held at the House are the Hebrew University party, which more than a thousand persons are to attend, the Greek, Rumanian, and Swiss immigrant associations' festival, and the Royal Air Force ball.

This afternoon, the Abraham Institute for Crippled Children gave a party for 80 children, featuring a concert, a show by the children themselves, and refreshments prepared by volunteers. The children and their parents were brought to the party from the children's centers. The Hebrew Philharmonic Orchestra is to give a gala Purim concert featuring Larry Adler, Paul Kieck, and a musical quiz at the Ohel Shalom, a show by the children themselves, and refreshments prepared by volunteers. The children and their parents were brought to the party from the children's centers.

In Haifa, some 3,000 upon students of all ages will hold a ball, called "Tivvade," at the Beit Galim Casino on Saturday. The merry-makers will compete for costume prizes, and other entertainment has been prepared. Beerseba is as yet showing few signs of Purim spirit. Although the children's parades will take place as usual, few public festivities have been arranged, and it is understood that there will be no meat ration for the holiday.

Since the police began to stop the sale of toy pistols, the town has been quiet. Rain, falling unceasingly throughout the day, did little to cheer the gloom. The Tiberias District Health Office is expected to take action against Purim explosives because an eight-year-old boy was seriously hurt in the eyes today while playing with fireworks.

Zion Leaves Britain On Maiden Trip

SOUTHAMPTON, Wednesday (INA). — The 10,500-ton Zion, second combined passenger-cargo ship built under the German Reparations agreement for Zion, sailed from here tonight on a maiden voyage for Haifa with 200 passengers aboard. En route, the Zion is calling at Gibraltar and Naples. At the former port, she will pick up 100 immigrants from Spanish Morocco. Together with her sister ship, the Israel, she will operate a regular passenger-cargo service between New York and Haifa.

Captain Golansky today toasted Queen Elizabeth and the President of Israel at a ceremony aboard the ship. Off to Haifa yesterday, the Israel Ambassador to France, Mr. Ya'acov Tur; the Chief Rabbi of France, Rabbi Ya'acov Kaplan; French Government representatives, Deputies and Jewish community leaders, and Shoham executives gathered aboard the Zion to take part in the dedication of the ship's synagogue and partake of an Israel-French friendship dinner.

ILAN FOR EL AL
LYDDA AIRPORT, Wednesday. — El Al has been allocated IL10m. from the Development Budget to help it overcome its financial difficulties. Mr. Yehoshua Kolk, Director-General of the Ministry of Transport, said today. A special Government committee formed to investigate the company's financial position last week presented its report to the Ministers of Finance and Transport.

Committee, and Mr. Minin agreed. Mr. Kolk said that of the 10,000 persons who had suffered physical injury, "arrangements had been made" for about $500. Mr. Yehoshua Kolk (Mapam) asked that the Absentee Property Law of 1950 be amended so that an Arab legally resident in the country would be considered an "absentee." Property of such Arabs, now being managed by the Custodian of Absentee Property or by the Development Authority, should be restored to their rightful owners. Under the present law, he said, many Arabs were considered absentees because they had moved from one part of the country to another during the War of Liberation.

Replying, Mr. Kolk said that the Custodian, on the recommendation of a special committee appointed for this purpose, had the right to return the property of persons who proved that they were not really absentees. This had been done in 1,815 cases already. But he added that some of the lands in question had been turned over to the Development Authority, which had settled new immigrants on them. In such cases, the owners received other land instead. Mr. Kolk proposed that the matter be referred to committee, and Mr. Khamis agreed.

Also referred to the Finance Committee was a motion by Mr. E. Ichilov (G.Z.) calling for compensation for the surviving families of Mishmar Hayazken. Budget Debate
In the continuation of the budget debate, Mr. I. Ben-Aharon (Abduh Ha'avoda) went beyond the implied criticism expressed on Monday by Mr. E. Sar of the Finance party. He said that the budget in many areas "bore signs of the dead hand of habit."

Abduh Ha'avoda would accept Coalition discipline and vote for passing the budget to committee, but it was its duty to warn its Coalition partners of what it considered the budget's inadequacies, and would fight for their correction.

An end to the link between the cost-of-living index and wages was demanded by Mr. Am Amiel (Mapai). He thought the "last-first-out" system of dismissals should be re-examined. Mr. E. Minin (Poalei Agudat Yisrael) proposed that the total expenditure be cut by 10 per cent and the IL10m. saved be used for defense.

The debate on the general budget in general is now concluded, and Mr. Kolk is due to reply on Tuesday. In the meantime, the Knesset begins its debate on the first group of amendments — the President's Office, the Knesset and the State Controller's Office. This is the least controversial group and there was a general feeling of agreement that all was well here.

Lydda Man Gets Life For Murdering Wife

TEL AVIV, Wednesday. — For the wilful and premeditated murder of his wife, Yosef Kishnerman, of Lydda, was today sentenced to life imprisonment by the District Court.

It was found guilty of having stabbed his wife on December 1, 1955 with a knife which he had bought for that purpose the previous day. The couple, who had come to Israel four years ago, had subsisted by begging or by selling peanuts. Their relations had been unsettled and the wife had run away several times.

After sentence was pronounced, the prisoner asked to be confined to Karmel prison, as he feared that there was no one in Tel Aviv who could speak the only language he understands — Spanish. The court agreed to recommend that he be confined to Karmel prison. The court consisted of the Presiding Judge, Mr. M. Karmel, and Judges I. Zundelstein and R. Mann. (Times)

Ron on Bail, Charged With IL30,000 Theft

TEL AVIV, Wednesday. — Shalom Ron, Secretary of the Lyddat Oil Company, has been charged with theft and forgery in the amount of IL30,000 and released on IL10,000 bail by Magistrate I. Treivish. It was revealed today.

The presentation of the charges and the granting of bail took place yesterday at a session not open to the public. Mr. Ron was said to have suffered a nervous collapse recently. The police reported today that the investigations would take several more weeks. They added that the figure quoted by them in the charge was merely an estimate.

It is claimed that in the period between January, 1954, and February, 1955, Ron had forged the signatures of Lyddat directors on an estimated 200 cheques, amounting to IL30,000 of the company's funds.

BEN-ZVI AWARD FOR WORK ON KURDISTAN

The President and Mrs. Ben-Zvi yesterday presented Mr. Avraham Ben-Ya'acov, of Jerusalem, with the Ben-Zvi Award, a prize of IL300 in memory of their son, Avram, who was killed in the War of Independence.

The contest, announced last year, was for research on Eastern Jewish communities no longer in existence. Mr. Ben-Zvi was the winner.

Miss Martha Graham, the noted dancer, "taught" one of the largest classes in history yesterday at the Tel Aviv Municipal Auditorium. An invited audience of about 1,500 dance enthusiasts packed the Edison Hall to hear Miss Graham lecture and to see her group go through a daily routine of dances. A packed house attended the troupe's performance at the Tel Aviv Municipal Auditorium, as the Ben-Zvi Award ceremony was held at the same time.

Dinner to Honour Italian Ambassador

A dinner marking the elevation of Benedetto Capomazza, marchese di Campolattaro, to the rank of Ambassador to Israel was held by the Italian Chamber of Commerce at the Ramat Aviv Hotel, Tel Aviv, as briefly reported yesterday.

In reply to a congratulatory speech by Mr. Walter Eytan, Director-General of the Foreign Ministry, the Ambassador said that raising the representation shows how highly Italy values good relations with Israel, despite her interest in the Arab countries.

Among those present were Mr. Joseph Glickman, Director-General of the Ministry of Commerce; Mr. Meron, of the Ministry of Economic Department; Mr. Luigi Cottafravi, First Secretary of the Embassy, and Mr. Arturo Cristelli, Commercial Attaché.

U.S. ENVOY SPEAKS ON GEORGE WASHINGTON
Tel. Aviv, Wednesday. — "George Washington Day" celebrated this evening by a special dinner at Z.O.A. House given by the House Club. The guest of honor was the U.S. Ambassador, Mr. Edward B. Lawson, who spoke of the problems facing the first American President after the War of Independence.

Americans in Israel are their duty according to tradition. The U.S. Embassy and Operations Mission offices were closed today to mark the anniversary.

We Miss the Human Touch at Work

JERUSALEM Post Reporter
HAIFA, Wednesday. — Human relations are the weakest point in the country's industrial efficiency, Dr. C.L.M. Kerkhove, Dutch productivity expert now on U.N. assistance mission, told the Haifa Rotary Club today.

The best techniques and equipment were of no avail unless the human factor was given its due and unless cooperation, mutual goodwill and confidence prevailed between management and labour, he said. Dr. Kerkhove, who has visited over 50 plants and enterprises here, said he was struck by the picture that while so many books on industrial psychology and psychology in general had been written by Jews, serious studies were being committed here in handling people.

He had noticed that people never sang here at work, as they did in his country. He saw workers being held in public and sometimes even in the presence of guests, instead of in private. Another fault he had observed was the neglected outside appearance of the workers. Work yards often resembled junk yards and the men responsible did not seem aware of such slovenliness. Barely did he find a tree or a garden around the factories. If that part of a plant was neglected, how could the workers be expected to take proper care of expensive equipment, he asked.

Dr. Kerkhove also thought that most people worked much too hard without sufficient rest. They were apparently not satisfied with themselves unless they worked from morning to night. This means that they overburden their brains, relying on their experience rather than on inventiveness.

The Dutch expert said he had been impressed by the friendly spirit of the people here, by their zeal and enthusiasm. He had also found them free from prejudice, and their "standard of intelligence" was very high. The army and police had acquitted themselves by their efficiency.

Dr. Kerkhove told the Club how, after the war, Holland had closed its May had gone without American luxury goods and cars, and the workers had agreed to keep wages stable for several years until productivity increased. When it had, wages could be raised without causing any inflationary spiral.

Carmel Leaves For S. American Drive

LYDDA AIRPORT, Wednesday. — The Minister of Transport, Aluf Moshe Carmel, journeyed to the objectives of his journey to the Regional Emergency Council, President of the Southern American Jewish before his departure today. To create a united Jewish political body which will support Israel in its struggles to raise the means to finance arms purchases and immigration; and to persuade large numbers of Jewish youth to volunteer for one year's work and guard duties on our borders.

The Minister, who will open the U.P.U. Congress in Buenos Aires, will also visit the Argentine Congress in Montevideo, will then go to the U.S. on behalf of his Ministry. The El Al plane carrying Aluf Carmel returned to the airport an hour-and-a-half after the take-off, owing to a fault in one of the four engines. In France, Carmel was accompanied by the Argentine Minister of Education, Mr. Z. Aranne, Dr. S. Yelvin, Director of the Department of Antiquities, and Mr. T. Kolk, Director-General of the Prime Minister's Office.

It is now understood that the Government is unlikely to acquire the entire building plot, but the site will be immediately surrounding the burial site may be preserved as a monument.

Ben-Gurion Inspects Rehavia Tomb
The site of the Hasmonian tomb in Rehavia was visited yesterday morning by the Prime Minister, accompanied by the Minister of Education, Mr. Z. Aranne, Dr. S. Yelvin, Director of the Department of Antiquities, and Mr. T. Kolk, Director-General of the Prime Minister's Office.

It is now understood that the Government is unlikely to acquire the entire building plot, but the site will be immediately surrounding the burial site may be preserved as a monument. Ben-Gurion is believed to have resumed work on the site, with the proper care taken to avoid disturbing the graves themselves.

The site was quiet yesterday, with the Hasmonian tomb, contrasting against the Purim parade. (See editorial, page 4)

First Great Israel Composer—A Sabra

JERUSALEM Post Reporter
TEL AVIV, Wednesday. — Israel's first great composer, Dr. Simon Parmet, the Finnish doctor, now on a two-month private tour of Israel, is believed to have composed the structure of the Finnish language, so every composer speaks in his mother tongue. Dr. Parmet asserted.

Finland-born Dr. Parmet, who has composed and arranged much Jewish liturgical music, lived for many years in Sweden, and was in the U.S. during most of World War II. He recently gave up his post as permanent conductor of the Finnish State Orchestra to travel, coming first to Israel.

Dr. Parmet was last here in 1939 when he conducted the Philharmonic (now the I.P.O.).
